Excerpt from The Voyage and Shipwreck of St. Paul: With Dissertations on the Life and Writings of St. Luke, and the Ships and Navigation of the Ancients

The question may well occur to many readers of this volume, Why should a solid standard work, such as 'Smith's Voyage and Shipwreck of St. Paul,' need a new preface to its fourth edition?

And the further question may be asked, Why should such preface, if needed, be furnished by the present writer?

To answer these questions it is necessary to insert a few words of personal explanation.

It so happened that in the course of last year I was desirous of purchasing a copy of this book. To my surprise I discovered not only that it was out of print, but that it was impossible (so at least my bookseller reported to me) to obtain a second-hand copy in London. This discovery induced me to communicate with the publishers.
